Dear Oto-Rhino-Laryngological Society of Japan,

It is my great honor to announce “the 107th Annual Congress and International Symposium of the Taiwan Society of Otorhinolaryngology Head and Neck Surgery” is being held at Kaohsiung Exhibition Center in Kaohsiung, Taiwan on November 2- 3, 2019.

Since the close cooperation and academic exchange with our Asia-Pacific partners, this year, we unit the annual congress with the international symposium. Many international well-known experts and international organizations were invited to participate in this grand event. It’s a great joy to share research results and novel ideas with experienced professionals. We would like to cordially invite all of your esteem organization members to join this exciting conference. It will be grateful if the flyer in attached file could be forwarded to all your members. All participants will not only enjoy this scientific program but also could pile up the friendship in this international meeting.

We are happy to host the special venue during the best season in Kaohsiung, a beautiful and modern metropolis. We believe this annual congress and international symposium will create an international platform for technology, skills, and experience exchange.

We’re looking forward to seeing you in Kaohsiung!

Warmest Regards,

Dr. Yoah-Shiang Lin
Honorary Congress President
Deputy Superintendent,
Kaohsiung Veterans General Hospital

Dr. Bor-Hwang Kang
Congress President
Director of Rhinology, Department of the ORL-HNS
